Invitation to Folly

You are hereby invited to peruse and enjoy The Joker, but be forewarned that reading this very invitation now qualifies you as a Fool!

“Who, Me?” You might say. “Yes, You!” Comes the inevitable rejoinder.

If you enjoy a good laugh, if you're willing to be the butt of a joke, if you don a costume - whenever possible, if telling the truth to power tickles your funny-bone, if you're inspired to sing and dance when nobody else hears the music, or even if none of the above applies to you, You are most definitely a Fool. (As is everyone to some extent, but some of us are not loath to admit it.) Now that we have that settled, we bid you again welcome and invite you to fascinating fêtes and foolish frolics!

This is the Internet, so of course it costs nothing to enjoy The Joker, the foolish fruit of our labors. We've even formatted it so you may print and peruse it at your leisure; we would even print it ourselves, slap a few stamps on it and send it to you.

BUT you must contact us to let us know that is your wish.

We'd welcome you in any case, but if so moved and could spare a few shekels for mailing YOURS, we wouldn't mind. (A Fool and his what..?)

$21 per year will do nicely.

Mackey's Review

POOH IN HELL

I wish I had written this sooner, for my mind does vaporize more swiftly these days, but I recall it was an exemplary great time.

Jim Kelly had driven me there and we first tried to enter a home that also was fabulously decorated and were stopped and told the party was across the street. We arrived to a loud boisterous gathering, passing some poor entity laying in his coffin on display; they had forgotten to bury him. Drab spooky lighting and other ghoulish props adorned the entry. Entering the premises we immediately saw how well it was attended, down right crowded I would say.

Halloween decor was splashed about but the most obvious decor were the patrons. No one halfway did their costumes or their character: Jim Kelly with a Byronic Flair (or I should say Lord Byron himself); I was a demonic Cardinal absolving no one; Daniel

Singer a lovable Teddy bear

Bartender (unless you tried to pour your own drink - Teddy don't play that game!); William Barrett I'm, not sure? Blinking crazed maniac. I can't remember all the wonderful characters but the night was absolutely engaging.

Three environments. The entertainment room where stories and songs flew through the room like a storm. Great jokes and mega talent. Starting off with Judy Kory's old school storytelling. Improv and all. She had them in the palm of her hand. Jim Kelly told AN EPIC POEM WHILE DEALING WITH DRUNKEN HECKLERS. I was one. The Honey LuLu's were spot on getting everyone to join along...

Ubiquity

She's ubiquitous, nimble and fair;
 Wherever you go, she's already there.
 You're far from the shore
 And you think you're alone,
 A surprise is in store,
 It's Joan.
 Afloat on debris
 In the wide open sea
 As calm as can be.

She everywhere goes;
 She ebbs and she flows;
 She speeds and she slows.
 Where now? Heaven knows...

Hey, look over there... it's Joan!

“Why”, you might ask,” is there a Joan page in every issue of The Joker?”
We’d reply, “It’s because Joan Hotchkis sponsors the ongoing Fools storage and we have a lot of stuff!”
“Thank you, Joan! Once again, as ever, we honor Our Lady of Perpetual Storage....”
